GRAVES MCLAIN INJURY LAWYERS TO HOST FREE BACK-TO-SCHOOL FESTIVAL
WITH THE TULSA DRILLERS AT ONEOK FIELD TO SUPPORT LOCAL STUDENTS AND FAMILIES

TULSA, OK (July 2025) – Graves McLain Injury Lawyers is proud to announce the return of its annual Back-to-School Festival, this year held in partnership with the Tulsa Drillers at ONEOK Field on Sunday, August 10, 2025, from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. This free, family-friendly event helps Tulsa-area children and families prepare for the upcoming school year by providing backpacks, school supplies, snacks, and interactive activities – all while connecting families with vital community resources in a fun, festive environment.

The first 2,000 school-aged children in attendance will get to choose a free backpack to fill with essential school supplies, including notebooks, markers, colored pencils, pencils, pencil sharpeners, rulers, and folders (while supplies last). In addition to the backpacks and supplies, families will enjoy games, giveaways, special appearances, and access to a wide range of local organizations offering educational tools and community resources.

The event is designed not only to ease the financial burden of the back-to-school season but also to bring the Tulsa community together. Local nonprofits, businesses, and service providers will be on-site hosting interactive activities and sharing information on free programs and support services available to families year-round. The goal is to create a space where parents and students can discover the many resources our community offers and begin the school year equipped, informed, and encouraged.

Festival highlights include:

- Live remote broadcast by KHITS 106.9
- Appearances by Hornsby and Drillers giveaways
- Vehicle display and anti-bullying resources from the Tulsa County Sheriff's Office
- Hands-only CPR instruction with the Tulsa American Heart Association
- Healthy Eating and Food Resources from Iron Gate Tulsa
- Coloring station from Tulsa Accident Care Center
- Free books courtesy of Dolly Parton's Imagination Library
- Backpack fitting demos by Tulsa Spine & Rehab
- Complimentary snacks and water for students, with donations from Hiland Dairy
- Free parking at the OSU Tulsa lot on Elgin Avenue and Easton Street, making it easy for families to attend.

“At its heart, this festival is about giving Tulsa kids the tools and confidence they need to succeed in the classroom.” said Chad McLain, partner at Graves McLain Injury Lawyers. “If we can help lift even a small burden for families during the back-to-school season and connect them with incredible resources available in Tulsa - that’s a win. We’re grateful for all our partners who are helping make this event possible.”

“This event is a great example of what can happen when local organizations come together with a shared purpose,” said Justin Gorski, Assistant General Manager and VP of Marketing for the Tulsa Drillers. “Graves McLain, the Official Personal Injury Lawyers of the Drillers, has been an active and engaged partner, and it’s clear how deeply they care about the Tulsa community. Hosting this event at ONEOK Field makes it even more special. Many of these families may have never stepped inside a professional ballpark before. To give them the run of the stadium, filled with support, joy, and opportunity, is truly powerful. We’re proud to be part of something that helps local kids feel confident, celebrated, and ready for the school year ahead.”

The back-to-school initiative is part of Graves McLain Injury Lawyers’ long-standing commitment to serving Tulsa families. The firm originally launched its Free Backpack Program in 2016, with the mission to provide brand-new backpacks filled with supplies to as many Tulsa Public Schools students as possible. What began as a small, school-by-school donation effort has grown into a major annual event thanks to the vision of firm partners - Dan Graves, Chad McLain, and Rachel Gusman, the dedication of the entire Graves McLain team, and the support of every community partner involved.

The firm is currently welcoming additional community partners and volunteers who want to take part in this impactful day. Local businesses, nonprofits, and service providers are invited to host tables, lead kid-friendly activities, or volunteer.
